LOOKING TO HITLER
 To the Editor of The Journal
 The report persistently from Berlin that congenital feeble-mindedness, insanity, epilepsy, and some other serious conditions that are inheritable are to be stamped out among the German people. Adolf Hitler is having broad scientific plans formed for this. If carried out effectively, it will make him the leader in the greatest rational movement for human betterment the world has ever seen. The world's two great needs are co-operation in industry for social and biological race bettering through eugenics. —C. F. Dight

Chancellor Adolf Hitler,
 Berlin, Germany.
 Honorable Chancellor;

I inclose a clipping from the Minneapolis Journal of Minnesota, United States of America, relating to, and praising your plan to stamp out mental inferiority among the German people.

I trust you will accept my sincere wish that your effort along that line will be a great success and will advance the eugenics movement in other nations as well as in Germany.

Sincerely,
 C. F. Dight, M.D.
 President Minnesota Eugenics Society.
